

CALS FAST FACTS:

The College of Agriculture and Life Sciences can trace its roots back to the university's founding in 1872. Today, we are a global leader in research, teaching, and outreach – and the heart of Virginia Tech's land-grant mission.

3065

Undergraduate students

598

Graduate students

Number of degree programs

16 Bachelors of Science degree programs

1 Associates of Agriculture degree program

22 Undergraduate minors

>600 university student organizations

>30 in CALS

9 Departments

1 School

1 AgTech Program

Less than 10:1

student to faculty ratio

216

Number of tenure/tenure-track professors

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND LIFE SCIENCES
VIRGINIA TECH

Living Alumni

55%

of graduates received 2 or more job offers after graduation

64%

of graduates said they had career-related experience during college

>25%

of the university's graduates who continue their educations in M.S., M.B.A., Ph.D., health professional, or other programs come from the college of Virginia Tech students who have gone on to health professional programs such as medical and veterinary schools are CALS graduates

>65%

Over

$50,000,000

in competitive research awards each year

Over

$8,700,000

in philanthropic support in FY2021

Over

$900,000

in scholarships awarded every year

107

local Virginia Cooperative Extension offices

11

Agricultural Research and Extension Centers

